

APOLOGIES

Most of you are aware that my old (and obsolete) website has been replaced with the new one, which is still a work in progress. Some glitch yet to be diagnosed means that email sent to me through the new website is not getting through. It is out there in cyberspace but has yet to arrive on my computer screen. So there are many of you whose emails have gone unanswered.

This will be fixed by my oh-so-competent Website Guy---I hope very soon. In the meantime my apologies to many of you who must be wondering why you have not received a reply. Soon. Soon!
